Guys, I am sorry to say this, but I think it is not polite to discuss pricing over a forum thread. 🙄

That's a good point from one perspective Gil, thanks for that.

But this is a community, and we all have a say

Just as many want to know what's on my mind, I want to know what's on theirs.

Sure, one of the reasons I got into trading is my abhorrence of financial discussion. I felt sick last night making that post, but all of this concerns all of us, so I feel it's best that this, as well as every other big topic, gets discussed in the forum

But you're right - a journal may not be the best place to discuss this, so moving the discussion over to a dedicated thread may be the best course make 4000 in one day, but for now I can't afford, its my six months salary here in the country I come from. So for now I am out, but thank you for the opportunity

Unless you would agree for something like this:

1. You open live acc with lets say Alpari
2. I send you 200 $ so you could put it on the acc
3. When I finish your course and will make 4000 out of those 200 $, you can just take it.
4. More over when I will be able after your course to make 4000 out of 200, I will oblige myself to pay you double that

Sounds fair to me, you risk nothing and I could afford to take your course, in the end you will get your money doubled

If thats possible I am more than happy to enroll 😊/😊

It's a very kind offer thank you Castus, and I'm positive that you personally would trade that $200 account and no other until the balance paid for the course.

But as a business model, don't you think it may be somewhat open to abuse?

Scipio wrote:

Hi If lets talk about the course...I have a question:

Hi Scipio

As I see it, I'll be remaking all the material that's already here on RTM, relating it all to the revelations I got over the last year. I also have other revelations to add (let me stress once again, that all these revelations I got were based on the lessons I already gave, and can be had by anybody who ties all the lessons together!)

The lessons will be structured in such a way that each makes a strong foundation for the next

Students would be given homework assignments on the lessons, and once we're satisfied they know the material, they'd get access to the next lessons.

HOMEEDUCATIONFORUMMORELOGOUT

As I see it, there will probably be two modules to the course - one for reading price, and one for trading.

Access to the trading section would be granted to those who've graduated from the reading module

In it I'd be explaining everything about chart setup, trade selection, trade management, and trading plan construction.

There are a number of types of trade, and a myriad of trader lifestyles, temperaments and time limitations, so this section will give the students the trading rules which will work best for them. These trading plans will take much of the emotion out of trading, making their job mechanical.

There'll be a lot of personal attention put into each student, but for those who want to book extra one on one time, there may be packages on offer to cover this

There'll be final exams for each of the modules, and qualifications awarded to the graduates.

There will be a forum for students, and a forum for alumni

I'm sure I'm leaving loads out here, but this is the essence of it

Guys, the course hasn't been out as yet, but so far RTM has been able to crank out consistent winners. Look at Pedini, Harry, Sunnytrader, Infest (my personal hero.) Eurotrash, 2OZ. The list can go on and on. They took the time, they made the effort, they went the distance and it paid off. That goes to show, the magic isn't in the course, its already in the forums. You just need to sift through and find the nuggets of gold hidden here there and everywhere.

To the naysayers, I ask (you know who you are!! 🤪)

1. How many of you did the homework that was asked?
2. How many of you watched the videos that were posted in the Education Section of the website over and over, at least until you got an AHA moment?
3. How many of your tried learning, then reading, then trading?

Try that first. Then make judgements and assumptions. Take 1 step at a time. Eat the elephant one bite at a time. (sorry vegetarians!!)

Think this is something you can pick up in 1 month? HA... Think again. If making money consistently was easy, wouldn't everyone be doing it?

The course is a luxury, not a necessity. Its been said over and over.

To the other detractors....

1. Can you give me an estimate of the cost of operating a website such as this with related bandwidth and what not? Yet we take for free and not give as its free. Backed by some shoddy broker. I'm not saying that they all are. But most of them are some type of bucket shop operation. Thats why they can do as they want, when they want. I'm sure we have all heard about broker horror stories. How many forex traders have a proper data feed and trading account? Backed by reliable names in the industry? Nothing based in Cyprus, some back corner in Russia, etc. Its a very small percentage.

We want everything and we want it for free, with minimal work. Isn't that another definition for LAZINESS? Why is that?

I'm starting to sound like a cranky old man from somewhere we might remember 🙄. IF, Mods, Seniors, you know the drill. If I have said anything that doesn't belong in the thread, feel free to edit. I'm pretty sure I might have offended someone. But in my point of view, it has to be said.

I'm gonna be honest with u guys, when I first saw numbers commin' up I was thinking all this is for profit and I could not blame IF for that, others who have 1 percent knowledge of what he has try to sell people trading coursers and all that because to get this level some sacrifices war done for sure, but I had a feeling of disappointment, anyhow I learned allot from you IF and whatever you decide I wish u all the best and I'm glad this is gonna remain a free environment, a community where everybody share opinions in a civilize manner to progress in this business. I do some posting on another forum and point people here if they wanna learn about this "naked" type of trading witch is the most clearer I saw since I started messing with forex, why am I doin' that? because I know this site has enough info to put anyone on the wright track and it's FREE.

Green pips to all and please keep up the good work !!!

as those who pay for the course. The course is just a shortcut. No more, no less.

I totally agree If... The information that is here on the RTM site is pure gold and usually to find gold you have to do a bit of digging and refining. Yes it is hard work but it pays off.

This is the only place I've found where there is a clear understanding of how the market works and why price reacts the way it does, where it does, AND a willingness to share that understanding. I feel so lucky that I came across the PIE thread which ultimately led me here. In my view, If and others have been pretty selfless in teaching and revealing what they have discovered.

It does seem likely that we will see less posting by those involved in the effort to create the course but I believe that as we have our own AHA moments and continue to learn and grow that we will fill that gap. That's what community is all about after all.

So far, it's been me replying to the prospective beta students.

I found out quickly that I'm really not very good at doing it!

So, Mel will be taking over that duty, and I know she'll do a far better job of it than I ever could.

To save her some work, let me answer a question I just got which I should've answered from the start - the estimated combined cost of the two courses, once tested and ready, is in the region of €8K to €10K. It's all dependent on the average time needed to get each test student ready to trade like pro's.

Also, let me answer a question which hasn't been asked - a full refund will be given to any student who wants to opt out before Module 1, Section 3, Lesson 2. That's when the really good stuff kicks in :)

Thanks so much for taking over, Mel. Everybody's in much better hands with you :)

Once they can't get their orders filled, they'll need to change their methods - methods that have been very secret for a very long time. This would render the information I have sold obsolete."

Hi IF, that is an interesting thought which I do think about occasionally, especially when I did not get my orders filled by some pips OR when I am stopped out because of stacked decisions points which are fairly close.

In a market like forex, where there are real big players who need to buy and sell huge amount of currencies, I am of the opinion that the very fundamental approach of order flow, supply and demand can never change they way dealers work. So will they change their methods, I am not too sure. But where I am sure is they can trick us, false breakouts, diamonds,..... and perhaps many ways that I am not experienced to know yet.

I started on this trail to RTM, courtesy of Sam Seiden. He thought something very interesting, very fundamental and very simple. Not easy to trade but simple and beautiful in concept and practice. A little diversion, I find him and his team very frustrating. They would always show you the supply and demand zones but they never show you the further left side of charts in deciding why they pick one zone and not the other.

The originators of RTM, and a couple of other kind souls out there have shown me the other details that sam seiden and his commercial team have always left out. For that I, for the rest of my life here on earth am very indebted to you all.

Thank you very much and I am very interested in this RTM academy project.

Hello,

just want to make some comments on this, hope i am not stepping on anyone else toes. it is a great progress that RTM finally made it's own academy. i myself would be join if i can afford the cost. :)

(see the irony?? 🤔)

now, my comments on the academy.

this community was build in spirit of trader helping traders, and was designed for free (sorry, i wrote was because now it has an option to join the academy).

i do hope in the future, there won't be any gaps between the student of the academy, and regular forum member who wants to learn. i hope seniors, associates, or master trader still have the willingness to assist people who can't afford the course in the forum.

in my personal opinions tho, it will be a gap. RTM will not be the same as before. it can't be helped, some will feel superior compared to others just because they're paying, may be not, but in case it happen, please maintain the issue and don't let RTM become a shitty community. great content without great people in it would be hmmmmm... there's more, but i'll keep it for me, i don't want to give you more motives to kill me 🤔

good luck and hope the best for the academy. 🙏

now i am going back to charts 🤔 or my hibernation 🤖

Dear IF

I'm new to RTM only been a member for a week or so.

Before I joined, I was a "lurker" browsing forums and the internet looking for information and trying to make heads or tails of it.

Not getting involved.

When I found this site it struck a key note with me, education focused, homework, support, a place I could truly lean how to trade.

I have gone through a mammoth reading session over the last few days, absorbing as much information as I can from the site. My problem is were to start, what concepts must I grasp first before moving to the next, what should my structured approach be to the material and how can I determine that I've achieved a reasonable understanding of one concept before moving to the next level.

I believe a course would provide structure to the material, it would provide a defined path with defined outcomes, which would be incredibly valuable to somebody like me. I also believe it would group traders into groups of expertise which would also be beneficial for both teacher and student.

I paid for a course which at the end of it, achieved the result of making me interested in trading, that was all.

The challenges of providing a course, are that you will have to manage peoples expectations and growth, which is very different from providing a free site like RTM. At the moment all the members here are managing there own expectations.

I started on this trail to RTM, courtesy of Sam Seiden. He thought something very interesting, very fundamental and very simple. Not easy to trade but simple and beautiful in concept and practice. A little diversion, I find him and his team very frustrating. They would always show you the supply and demand zones but

The originators of RTM, and a couple of other kind souls out there have shown me the other details that sam seiden and his commercial team have always left out. For that I, for the rest of my life here on earth am very indebted to you all.

Thank you very much and I am very interested in this RTM academy project.

It really does make you wonder.

The easy access to quality information we now have is slowly but surely changing many businesses.

Not long ago, if you needed your BMW serviced or fixed, you'd need to go to a BMW specialist, because he was the only person who knew it well.

But now, you can go to bimmerfest or some other site, where you can get detailed instructions on how to do it perfectly yourself. How many of us now own diagnostics tools? Lots!

The parts departments of these garages will grow, while the service departments will dwindle.

Now, the number of retail traders is growing rapidly. At the moment, most of them are being taught pure rubbish by fraudsters, or pure lies by brokers.

But as more and more traders get educated, which is bound to happen, there just may not be enough orders against the big guys' buys or sells, so they'd be forced to push price further and further, or turn price earlier.

All this we'll be able to read of course.

For now, though, the educated aren't numerous enough to take all the orders of the masses from the institutions just want to make some comments on this, hope i am not stepping on anyone else toes.

it is a great progress that RTM finally made it's own academy. i myself would be join if i can afford the cost. :)

it's not a whine, i am not a naysayers nor other detractors btw 🤔

i help RTM with the way i could, and you don't know what you don't know. don't judge! 🤔

now, my comments on the academy.

this community was build in spirit of trader helping traders, and was designed for academy, and regular forum member who wants to learn. i hope seniors, associates, or master trader still have the willingness to assist people who can't afford the course in the forum.

in my personal opinions tho, it will be a gap. RTM will not be the same as before. it can't be helped, some will feel superior compared to others just because they're paying, may be not, but in case it happen, please maintain the issue and don't let RTM become a shitty community. great content without great people in it would be

good luck and hope the best for the academy.
now i am going back to charts 😊

Cheers.

Hi Raven

thanks so much for the feedback

I can't speak for everybody, but I can tell you my rationale.

I miss the forum, lots!

Since I recently took a break from the forum to knuckle down to make money from trading, I've felt like there's something missing from my life.

From the very start, I've truly loved being there to help fellow traders take the right road. I hate to say anything bad about trading or people who love to trade, so please don't anybody take offence, but really it's the dullerest thing I've ever done - there's just no colour in it for me and I hate that!

leaves me cold. I guess I'm just not cut out to be a trader. Analysis and teaching light me up - so they're what I'll do.

So, when the course is finished, I'll have lots more time to hang out in the forum, doing what I love to do :)
